Using budget figures and comparisons from other coast school dstricts, a representative of the area teachers' association Tuesday requested the Bay School Board "set priorities" in order to have effective

"Ability to attract and keep effective teachers should be a top priority in any district which hopes to have effective schools," said Peggy Dutton, of the Bay-Waveland Association of Educators.

Dutton said research shows that schools need effective teachers to be effective.

"Statistics show that teachers are attracted to and remain where they feel confident, in their ability to facilitate student learning and where expectation of levels of pay commensurate with the level of education and experience exist,"

According to Dutton there has been a 30 percent turnover in faculty in the past two years.

"We have been very fortunate to find qualified teachers to replace those who have left, but we are facing a statewide and nationwide teachers shortage," Dutton said.

....We cannot continue to rely on luck to keep our classrooms competently staffed," she added.

Dutton stated that most teachers who have left or plan to leave the district, are attracted by higher salaries and because of poor personnel relations which prevent the district from correctly the need to improve salaries. Quoting figures from three school year budgets, Dutton said there has been a significant buildup in the District Maintenance Funds.

"We applaud the prudence of building up funds for future needs and for the unexpected, but we feel that our high turnover rate in faculty, coupled with the incentives teachers have to go elsewhere, constitute a critical, present need," she necessary to pay bills during that time," he added.

Dutton added that the need (of teachers' salary increases) is not something "for the teachers."

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK The Bay St. Louis Municipal School District carried over an ending cash balance from the 1984-85 year of more than $350,000.

Superintendent J. D. McCollouch says a cash carryover is necessary "The children need effective to prevent the system from having to borrow money and paying interest when public funds are slow coming in to the school's accounts.

"Until 1975, the district had to borrow funds yearly to meet the payroll during the months before ad valorum taxes started coming in," he said.

"The school district had to pay three dockets and two payrolls in this fiscal year without receiving any local funds," said Garland Cuevas, business manager.

The payroll and docket for the school district average around $200,000 per month, but the only funds that the district received from July 1 to Sept. 22 was $187,000 from the state minimum funding program for payroll, Cuevas added.

"If we had not had the ending cash balance we would have had to borrow money to meet the payroll during July, August and September." McCollouch said.

According to Cuevas, the funds are included in the budget to cover increases in utilities, insurance and fixed benefits, used for capital improvements (i.e. lockers, classroom equipment and maintenance) and the remainder is divided among all schoolls in the district for additional repairs and improvements.

This year's budget reflects an expected increase of $115,000 (the maximum 10 percent allowed) over the 1984-85 budget.

"This 10 percent increase is the only extra income the school district will receive," Cuevas said.

More than one half of the projected increase will have to be used to pay non-unit teacher (those whose salary is 100 percent locally funded), Cuevas said.

The state's mininum program funding allows for 84.5 teachers and administrators in the school district. Currently there are 112 employed "To pay the state mandated increase, payroll benefits and yearly "cost the district $59,425," Cuevas

This leaves a total budget increase for this school year of $55,675, for all needs in the district schools.

McCullouch said he and Cuevas have reviewed the budget several times in the past months investigating various ways to finance a teachers' salary increase.

It would be nice if the district could increase salaries comparable to those in other districts, Mc-Cullouch said. But meeting other district's

Educational task force presents recommendations to Bay Schools

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK Proposing several recommendations for improvements in the educational system, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Education Task Force requested a special meeting with the school board for Oct. 28. "The continued development of Hancock County as a major coastal Mississippi community is tied very closely to our educational system,' Task Force Chairman Kathy Fernandez told the board Monday. The task force was organized to review the status of local educations systems to determine what will aid the community in providing students greater opportunities, she said. Goals of the task force include: -To promote quality competitive education for local students which will afford them greater opportunities for academic achievement. -To help foster a community attitude which will enhance a more positive image towards public education in Hancock County. -To solict support and offer assistance towards meeting the educationals needs of Hancock County's youth. Task Force member Charles Benvenutti addressed the board about recent low test scores from Bay students. "We have to find out what's really wrong in the school system and what we have to do to correct it," said Capt. Roger P. Onorati, task force

Clarke files appeal in election decision

BY DENA BISNETTE A candidate excluded from the Justice Court judge, East District special election in November has appealed the decision to the State Supreme Court.

Thomas P. Clarke, who said he mailed the documents involved in the appeal to the State Supreme Court in Jackson Tuesday afternoon, was one of two candidates taken off the ballot. Clarke and Buford Ladner were not allowed by state law to run because they qualified less than 60 days prior to the election, according to Judge James Thomas' Oct.4

declaratory judgement. Both had waited to qualify because they were erroneously instructed to do so by a letter accompanving the petitions they picked up in the circuit clerk's office.

The letter was prepared by the Hancock County Election Commission, which asked Thomas for the judgement after learning of the er-

Clarke said Ladner is not involved in the appeal, which he filed because he feels that the matter should have been dealt with in a court of equity rather than by declaratory judge-

The restrictions were requested Monday on behalf of Shoreline Park Civic Association by Malcolm Tullier, who said he feels that such regulations would help slow down speeding boaters, reduce safety hazards and alleviate a problem with erosion along the banks of the waterways. He asked that it be enforced by Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation's Marine Enforcement Division and Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Stanley Hamilton, who works with the Marine Enforcement Division accompanied Tullier to the meeting, said any regulations should extend only to those waterways in residential areas.

Board Attorney Walter Gex III agreed that such regulations would be beneficial, but said they would be difficult to enforce and advised the board against attempting to enact waterway regulations for the entire county.

Last year, the board attempted to enact waterway speed limits for several portions of the county and met with numerous objections from the public.

The board will have to hold public hearings if its members decided no wake restrictions should be enacted. Gex reccommended that the board attempt to find out how many subdivisions want such restrictions, then hold one public hearing on the matter for all of them.

The board requested that Tullier contact the representatives of civic associations in other subdivisions. In other business, the supervisors:

-Authorized Sheriff Ronald Peterson to hire Myra Haynes to replace Mary Biehl who resigned: -Approved Peterson's request to advertise for bids on a new patrol

-Took bids on equipment for the Fenton Volunteer Fire Department; -Approved holding a bid for repair of restroom facilities at the county-owned baseball park in Necaise Crossing for approval by Federal Emergency Management Agency;

-Accepted, with regret, a letter of resignation from Board Secretary James Pfieffer, who plans to retire Oct. 31; and

-Set the next board meeting for

This is the time of year when the Bay St. Louis Fire Department begins to work on a project that will make Christmas happier for many of our children.

Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana reports his firefighters are ready to start getting toys ready for the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund.

The firefighters in their spare time repair toys which are donated and get them ready for delivery at Christmas time to deserving children of the Bay St. Louis. Waveland and county area.

Last year over 500 children received toys from the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund which is an agency of the United Way.

In addition to receiving funds from the United Way, the Doll and Toy Fund also receives donations from several individuals and business establishments in addition to toys which are donated.

Local businesses also give a special price on toys purchased by Chief Lizana for the drive.

Children outgrow toys in many families, and persons coming up with an extra supply, if they would like, could drop them off at the Bay St. Louis Fire Department at the intersection of the Old Spanish Trail and Bookter Street.

Chief Lizana reports he is already receiving names of deserving children and it appears there will be more this year than ever before.

The toys are delivered by firefighters, Bay St. Louis and Waveland patrolmen and Hancock County deputies a few days before Christmas.

So, as you see, there are a lot of folks involved in the operation of the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund.

There is a message for our times in all this. Powerful as the world of imagination, of make-believe, may be there is no substitute for the real world, and the facts of life as we learn them, often the hard way.

So, in these times when we may be lulled into a feeling that everything is rosy in the country by a President Feel-Good when all the facts indicate otherwise, we need to look beyond the soothing rhetoric and say, "Enough of this pablum...tell us the facts. We want straight talk."

Orson Welles could create a world of fantasy that was immensely convincing. But we must remember that it is only fantasy.

Consumer Protection Hits $1,000,000 Mark

The Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection went over the $1 million mark in restitution during August, the first time that the division has recovered that amount in a single year in its 10-year history.

Attorney General Ed Pittman said he was especially pleased that 18 percent of the recoveries went to the state's senior citizens. "We feel that consumers know they have a place to go when they have a complaint: that they have a chance of getting their money back without the additional expense of legal fees and court

Pittman said the division is getting an increasing number of calls, and he thinks the number will continue to go up as more people are

"We installed an incoming tollfree line to help consumers reach our Jackson office (1-800-223-5615) and we opened an office in the Biloxi Courthouse to take complaints from citizens on the Coast," Pittman said. "Our attorneys and investigators. have been talking to groups of senior citizens and civic organizations about steps that the consumer can take to protect himself from loss. All this has resulted in more calls and more cases. We're very busy and we like it that way."

The restitution figure for August was $137,578.38, according to figures released by Assistant Attorney General Michael Espy, who heads the division. Of that figure, some of the restitution was in the form of cash returned to dissatisfied customers, some was in the cancellation of sales contracts, and some was for repair or replacement of faulty merchandise.

Restitution ranged all the way from $6.00 for undelivered mailorder merchandise to over $47,000 in the cancellation of a sales contract on a mobile home.

"The division will spend the same amount of time on a $10 complaint that we will spend on a $10,000 complaint," Espy said. "The test is whether or not the consumer has a valid complaint, not how much money he may have lost."

Pittman said he was particularly pleased with the success of the Consumer Protection Division in recapturing funds for consumers because. "This is not money that goes into the state treasury or back to the counties; this is money that goes directly back into the pockets that it came out of."

The $1,047,197.23 year-to-date restitution figure does not include any of the work which is currently being done by division investigators and attorneys for the victims of Hurricane Elena. There will also be an approximate $500,000 recovery in the cancellation of contracts for purchasers of campsites in Marshall and Benton counties which was part of a voluntary compliance settle ment reached between the Attorney General's Office and the campground operators, Serendipity, Inc.

When these figures are added in, the 1985 total could be well over $2 million," Pittman said. "If that lisppens, the division will have accomplished as much in the year 1965

as it did in the total of the nine years that went before it." Medicaid Fraud Unit Active

The Medicaid Fraud Control Unit of the Attorney General's Office currently is investigating 22 providers of medical services or medication, according to unit chief Chuck Rubisoff. The unit, which has been in operation less than two years, has been responsible for the convictions of three persons on felony charges rising from attempting to defraud patients on Medicaid or to defraud the government by trying to collect for services or medication not delivered. In addition to the arrests and convictions, the unit has recovered $96,369.67 in restitution, civil penalties and fines.

Rubisoff said the two most active areas of investigation for the unit are pharmacies and nursing homes. As a result of complaints from the public, the unit has conducted inspections and investigations on several nursing homes.

The Medicaid Fraud Control Unit takes complaints and information from the general public, from medical personnel, from the Medicaid Commission and from law enforcement officials, Rubisoff said.

> Attorney General Appeals FERC Ruling

On August 26, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission refused to modify its former ruling that Mississippi Power and Light Company must pay 33 percent of the cost of Grand Gulf I. Assistant Attorney General Frank Spencer filed a notice of appeal in the Federal District Court of the District of Columbia within two minutes of the FERC order.

Attorney General Pittman said he was disappointed with FERC's refusal to change the 33 percent figure, but that he felt the court system would give Mississippi's arguments a fair hearing and would modify the FERC ruling. "The 33 percent is growly unfair to our state and I believe the judicial system will work to correct that inequity," he

Pittman said the August 26 order would not affect the utility bills of MP&L customers or the ruling of the Public Service Commission which granted MP&L a 14 percent rate increase. "The PSC decision to grant the rate increase was based on the 33 percent ruling of FERC," he said.

Angry residents protesting a zoning change proposal had to be quieted more than once Tuesday night during the Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission meeting.

Property owners in the Turner and Bismark streets area voiced their opposition to a petition by Paul Vegas to have the remainder of a parcel of property he owns zoned C3 (commercial).

Following a lengthy discussion among Vegas, area residents and the commissioners, the commission unanimously approved the petition for rezoning with the exception of lots that face Bismark Street.

While attempting to make the motion for approval, Commissioner Wilson Webre was interrupted twice by the protestors.

Vegas told commissioners he had. owned the property which front on US-90 since 1963 and believed it was zoned commercial until recently discovering part of it was zoned residential.

He also said a building housing commercial business on the property is currently zoned half commer-

County hears realtor on permit refusals

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors plans an Oct. 27 meeting with State Board of Health officials. District and County Board of Health officials and representatives of the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District to settle complaints from a group of realtors.

Delmer Wilcox of Waveland, the group's spokesman, told the board Monday that unless something is done about the problem, "Real Estate in Hancock County is dead."

The realtors are upset, Wilcox said, because they have been unable to obtain water and sewer sanitation permits for property outside Waveland, Bay St. Louis and Diamondhead.

Without the permits, they can not obtain financing through banks, savings and loan institutions or federal agencies like Farmer's Home Administration and Veterans Administration.

Without the permits, it is impossible to purchase or sell land that has to be federally financed, he said.

Wilcox alleged that much of the problem stems from lack of cooperation from Louis Fernandez who is the County Health Department representative responsible for conducting inspections and tests necessary for obtaining permits.

He alleged that Fernandez refuses to do tests in certain areas and has unnecessarily restricted the type of businesses that county landowners may open or operate.

He said Fernandez has told him he can not test in some areas because state law does not allow him to do so and asked the board's assistance in convincing the legislature to change those laws.

"We want to go to Jackson if we need to and get some laws we can live with," he told the board.

He also said he has been told that Fernandez no longer approves septic tanks but will not approve alternatives like the jet system, an individual onsite wastewater disposal system which discharges water that is 97 percent pure and, according to Joe Gill, Wetlands Division Chief for Bureau of Marine Resources, has been tested and used in other parts of Mississippi.

neighborhood." said resident Alice Ladner. Commissioner Webre said he believes the original intent of commissioners who had approved the zoning map was to have property along US-90 zoned commercial.

"The guide lines were supposed to be drawn along existing lines of ownership to the nearest city street," Webre added.

Webre said he contends the owner has a legal right to have the property zoned commercial because the street where the residental zoning begins was lawfully abandoned by the city several years prior to the time when the zoning map was

"I also believe Vegas showed that there had been a zoning error," he added.

The commission's decision drew heated replies from several residents who made derogatory remarks about the petitioner as well as the commissioners.

Area resident Edith Ferrell asked the commission why letters were sent to property owners '...if our voices don't count?'

Weber answered that in most cases the opinions of residents do make a difference.

"I believe it is the commission's. responsibilty to correct errors made in the zoning map and that it is in the best interest of the community to extend the commercial zoning in this particular case," he said. Commission Chairman C. C.

McDonald reminded the group that any further protests should be addressed to the Bay St. Louis City Council who will approve or disapprove the zoning commission's recommendation.

In answer to a comment that the council always follows the commissions' recommendations, McDonald told the crowd that recently the council had disapproved three successive commission suggestions.

A parting comment from one resident questioned the manner in which a member may be removed from the commission.

In other business, the commission approved a petition from Third Street resident Jerry Heitzman for a zoning change from R3 (multifamily residential) to R1 (singlefamily residential).

Heitzman's request included his property as well as adjacent property owned by Victor Maumus of New

We are requesting the zoning change to protect the character of our neighborhood," he said.

Heitzman said that currently the neighborhood is limited to single famility houses and he fears the development of a low-income apartment units if the zoning were not changed.

In a letter received Monday, Oct. 14, Maumus voiced his objections to the change.

"A zoning change is harmful and would reduce the market value (of the property) and for that reason I must object to the change.' Maumus' letter stated.

Commissioner Clarence Ladner stated that the coucil has the option to change the zoning without a property owner's permission.

"So in order to protect the character of the area, I make the motion for approval of the petition." Ladner said.

The motion was passed 4-1, with Webre voting no.

Webre said since Maumus owned approximatley 90 percent of the property in question and had strenously objected he could not vote for the change.

Eyes on Mississippi

JACKSON—As a high school youth in Bogalusa, La., I heard Orson Welles' "The War of the Worlds" radio broadcast back in 1938. I didn't panic. I don't know why. But I didn't.

What was it like? Well, you might compare it to a voice with which you are very familiar, namely that of Ronald Reagan, coming over the airwaves, saying, "Soviet missiles are headed our way...good luck. "And Nancy says, Good luck

Orson Welles was a powerful actor. Correct that. He was a powerful person. What a great political figure he would have made.

But in those days, actors didn't go into politics. That came later. Now we know how far they can go.

I must say this for the younger people, who are the majority in our times: Nobody around today has the raw talent that Orson Welles had.

Nobody in the world of entertainment today is nearly as brilliant as a writer-actor-producer.

After all, we are greatly affected by the stage, not just the art of the theatre, but the message of the medium. It's been that way since the time of Julius Caesar.

The same baffling force that came from the stage back then is perhaps the same force that comes from the television screen today.

I don't know why Elvis Presley was a national hero when I couldn't stand to see his silly gyrations and listen to his nervous singing, to the accompaniment of a raucous strumming of hyped-up guitars.

Evidently a lot of people in America did see something in Presley that I missed.

You must forgive one who graduated from high school hearing the dulcet tones of Frank Sinatra (a skinny Frank Sinatra, I must add) and the big band sounds of Glenn Miller, whose music came cascading out over the airwaves late at night via radio from such far away places as Frank Daley's Meadowbrook in New Jersey. For all the momentary pleasure they may have provided, I realized before long that Sinatra, or Tommy Dorsey, or Glenn Miller were merely passing fancies, compared to the brilliance of Orson Welles.

I am not a big fan of the movies. In fact, I have seen only three, or possible four movies in my lifetime that I consider memorable.

'Gone with the Wind' I must concede, was a movie of classic proportions, beyond challenge. The only one in the past 10 or so years I really care to remember was Tomorrow made from a William Faulkner story in which Robert Duvall starred. Happily some others apparently appreciate the movie because it has been revived in the past year.

The most fascinating film of my lifetime was Citizen Kane, Orson Welles' 1941 version of William Randolph Hearst, the newspaper czar who wielded powerful influence in national and international affairs. These were times when newspaper tycoons made the news, if the news didn't go to suit them.

Certainly the kind of power Hearst wielded in the 1920s has no collary in 1985 newspaper circles.

Orson Welles discovered and brought to the screen techniques of story telling never before seen in the

In Citizen Kane the subtle technique of introducing "rosebud" with a limpse of a snowflake deskweight at the outset of the film provided a haunting theme throughout the movie. Who was Rosebud? You never really found out.

The massive Welles made Hearst seem larger than life and more hated than the devil incarnate.

That "Citizen Kane" was a movie classic is an understatement. It was a reflection of the talent of an individual who could well be called a William Shakespeare of the 20th cen-

Our good fortune is that Orson Welles came along at a time when a vastly larger audience than those fortunate few at Stratford on Avon could enjoy and appreciate his

There is a message for our times in all this. Powerful as the world of imagination, of make-believe, may be there is no substitute for the real world, and the facts of life as we learn them, often the hard way.

So, in these times when we may be lulled into a feeling that everything is rosy in the country by a President Feel-Good when all the facts indicate otherwise, we need to look beyond the soothing rhetoric and say, "Enough of this pablum, tell us the facts. We want straight talk."

Orson Welles could create a world of fantasy that was immensely convincing. But we must remember that it is only fantasy.

And the real world is something

Consumer Protection Hits $1,000,000 Mark

The Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection went over the $1 million mark in restitution during August, the first time that the division has recovered that amount in a single year in its 10-year history.

Attorney General Ed Pittman said he was especially pleased that 18 percent of the recoveries went to the state's senior citizens. "We feel that consumers know they have a place to go when they have a complaint; that they have a chance of getting their money back without the additional expense of legal fees and court costs."

Pittman said the division is getting an increasing number of calls, and he thinks the number will continue to go up as more people are made aware of the work being done.

"We installed an incoming tollfree line to help consumers reach our Jackson office (1-800-223-5615) and we opened an office in the Biloxi Courthouse to take complaints from citizens on the Coast," Pittman said. "Our attorneys and investigators have been talking to groups of senior citizens and civic organizations about steps that the consumer can take to protect himself from loss. All this has resulted in more calls and more cases. We're very busy and we like it that way."

The restitution figure for August was $137,578.38, according to figures released by Assistant Attorney General Michael Espy, who heads the division. Of that figure, some of the restitution was in the form of cash returned to dissatisfied customers, some was in the cancellation of sales contracts, and some was for repair or replacement of faulty merchandise.

Restitution ranged all the way from $6.00 for undelivered mailorder merchandise to over $47,000 in the cancellation of a sales contract on a mobile home.

"The division will spend the same amount of time on a $10 complaint that we will spend on a $10,000 complaint," Espy said. "The test is whether or not the consumer has a valid complaint, not how much money he may have lost,"

Pittman said he was particularly pleased with the success of the Consumer Protection Division in recapturing funds for consumers because, "This is not money that goes into the state treasury or back to the counties; this is money that goes directly back into the pockets that it came

The $1,047,197.23 year-to-date restitution figure does not include any of the work which is currently being done by division investigators and attorneys for the victims of Hurricane Elena. There will also be an approximate $500,000 recovery in the cancellation of contracts for purchasers of campaites in Marshall and Benton counties which was part of a voluntary compliance settlement reached between the Attorney General's Office and the camperound operators, Secendipity, Inc. "When these figures are added in, the 1985 total could be well over $2 million," Pittman said. "If that happens, the division will have accomplished as much in the year 1985

as it did in the total of the nine years that went before it." Medicaid Fraud Unit Active The Medicaid Fraud Control Unit of the Attorney General's Office currently is investigating 22 providers of medical services or medication. according to unit chief Chuck Rubisoff. The unit, which has been in operation less than two years, has been responsible for the convictions of three persons on felony charges rising from attempting to defraud patients on Medicaid or to defraud the government by trying to collect for services or medication not delivered. In addition to the arrests and convictions, the unit has recovered $98,369.67 in restitution. civil penalties and fines.

Rubisoff said the two most active areas of investigation for the unit are pharmacies and nursing homes. As a result of complaints from the public, the unit has conducted inspections and investigations on several nursing homes.

The Medicaid Fraud Control Unit takes complaints and information from the general public, from medical personnel, from the Medicaid Commission and from law enforcement officials, Rubisoff said.

> Attorney General Appeals FERC Ruling

On August 26, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission refused to modify its former ruling that Mississippi Power and Light Company must pay 33 percent of the cost of Grand Gulf I. Assistant Attorney General Frank Spencer filed a notice of appeal in the Federal District Court of the District of Columbia within two minutes of the FERC order.

Attorney General Pittman said he was disappointed with FERC's refusal to change the 33 percent figure, but that he felt the court system would give Mississippl's arguments a fair hearing and would modify the FERC ruling. "The 33 percent is grossly unfair to our state and I believe the judicial system will work to correct that inequity," he said.

Pittman said the August 26 order would not affect the utility bills of MP&L customers or the ruling of the Public Service Commission which granted MP&II a 14 percent rate increase. "The PSC decision to grant the rate increase was based on the 33 percent ruling of FERC," he said.

Angry residents protesting a zon-. ing change proposal had to bequieted more than once Tuesday night during the Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission meeting.

Property owners in the Turner and Bismark streets area voiced their opposition to a petition by Paul Vegas to have the remainder of a parcel of property he owns zoned C3 (commercial).

Following a lengthy discussion among Vegas, area residents and the commissioners, the commission unanimously approved the petition for rezoning with the exception of lots that face Bismark Street.

While attempting to make the motion for approval, Commissioner Wilson Webre was interrupted twice by the protestors.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors plans an Oct. 27 meeting with State Board of Health officials, District and County Board of Health officials and representatives of the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District to settle complaints from a group of realtors.

Delmer Wilcox of Waveland, the group's spokesman, told the board Monday that unless something is done about the problem, "Real Estate in Hancock County is dead."

The realtors are upset, Wilcox said, because they have been unable to obtain water and sewer sanitation permits for property outside Waveland, Bay St. Louis and Diamondhead.

Without the permits, they can not obtain financing through banks, savings and loan institutions or federal agencies like Farmer's Home Administration and Veterans Administration.

Without the permits, it is impossible to purchase or sell land that has to be federally financed, he said.

Wilcox alleged that much of the problem stems from lack of cooperation from Louis Fernandez who is the County Health Department representative responsible for conducting inspections and tests necessary for obtaining permits.

He alleged that Fernandez refuses to do tests in certain areas and has unnecessarily restricted the type of businesses that county landowners may open or operate.

He said Fernandez has told him he can not test in some areas because state law does not allow him to do so and asked the board's assistance in convincing the legislature to change those laws.

"We want to go to Jackson if we need to and get some laws we can live with," he told the board.

He also said he has been told that Fernandez no longer approves septic tanks but will not approve alternatives like the jet system, an individual onsite wastewater disposal system which discharges water that is 97 percent pure and, according to Joe Gill, Wetlands Division Chief for Bureau of Marine Resources, has been tested and used in other parts of Mississippi.

"We can't get approval to put them in our subdivisions." Wilcox

"We can't get well permits either.

Why should our water systems be condemned when no one has gotten sick from them?" Board Attorney Walter Gex III, who also serves as county representative of the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District, suggested bringing district officials into the matter since it is partially under wastewater district jurisdic-Fernandez, who was not at the meeting, said later that he feels many of the allegations are in error. He said he refuses to test in some areas because state law does not allow him to issue a permit in an unapproved subdivision and he feels running the tests anyway is "a waste of taxpayers' money."

He said the allegations concerning the jet system are also a result of the law. Although that system is listed by the National Sanitation Foundation as an approved individual onsite wastewater disposal system, state law does not approve their use in unapproved subdivisions.

In Section 41-67-7 of the Mississippi Code, there are several restrictions which Fernandez said keeps him from approving individual systems.

The law took effect July 1, 1978. Lots occupied prior to that date may be approved if "50 percent of the platted lots have been occupied prior to the effective date...providing the following requirements are met:"

"(a) no system of sanitary sewers is readily available;"

"(b) the existing individual onsite wastewater disposal systems in the area are functioning satisfactorily;"

"(c) a properly made soil test on . the lot shows a satisfactory percolation rate; and"

"(d) there is sufficient space available on the lot, after the dwelling has been constructed, on which to construct an individual wastewater disposal system meeting all state board of health requirements and sufficient space on which to construct additional disposal field if the system fails to function properly."

The second part of the same section deals with subdivisions developed after the law took effect. It limits the minimum lot size to 17,500 square feet if a public or adequate community water system is available and 20,000 square feet if such a water supply is not available.

Private water supplies must be at least 50 feet from the septic tank and its disposal field and at least 100 feet from the disposal field of the proposed system.

Fernandez said these regulation rule out approval in many parts of the county. He said he plans to attend the Oct. 27 meeting and explain the problem.

AFRICAN DROUGHT

"Nature" begins its fourth season on Mississippi ETV with a special program examining the hardships faced by animals on the Tsavo plains of Kenya at 7 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 20.

'And Then the Rains Came' follows the startling rebirth of the Tsavo plains of Kenya after the rains ended one of the worst droughts in African history.

The drought destroyed the food supply-but not the water source-so when the rains did come, flooding rivers coursed through barren plains stripped of vegetation.

Even the crocodiles v re forced to leave the menacing tor Q , or else neighborhood," said resident Alice Ladner.

Commissioner Webre said he believes the original intent of commissioners who had approved the zoning map was to have property along US-90 zoned commercial.

"The guide lines were supposed to be drawn along existing lines of ownership to the nearest city street," Webre added.

Webre said he contends the owner has a legal right to have the property zoned commercial because the street where the residental zoning begins was lawfully abandoned by the city several years prior to the time when the zoning map was drawn.

"I also believe Vegas showed that there had been a zoning error," he added.

The commission's decision drew heated replies from several residents who made derogatory remarks about the petitioner as well as the commissioners.

Area resident Edith Ferrell asked the commission why letters were sent to property owners '...if our voices don't count?'

Weber answered that in most cases the opinions of residents do make a difference.

"I believe it is the commission's responsibilty to correct errors made in the zoning map and that it is in the best interest of the community to extend the commercial zoning in this particular case," he said.

Commission Chairman C. C. McDonald reminded the group that any further protests should be addressed to the Bay St. Louis City Council who will approve or disapprove the zoning commission's recommendation.

In answer to a comment that the council always follows the commissions' recommendations, McDonald told the crowd that recently the council had disapproved three successive commission suggestions.

A parting comment from one resident questioned the manner in which a member may be removed from the commission.

In other business, the commission approved a petition from Third Street resident Jerry Heitzman for a zoning change from R3 (multifamily residential) to R1 (singlefamily residential).

Heitzman's request included his property as well as adjacent property owned by Victor Maumus of New Orleans.

"We are requesting the zoning change to protect the character of our neighborhood," he said.

Heitzman said that currently the neighborhood is limited to single family houses and he fears the development of a low-income apartment units if the zoning were not changed.

In a letter received Monday, Oct. 14, Maumus voiced his objections to the change.

"A zoning change is harmful and. would reduce the market value (of the property) and for that reason I must object to the change,"

Maumus' letter stated. -Commissioner Clarence Ladner stated that the coucil has the option to change the zoning without a property owner's permission.

"So in order to protect the character of the area, I make the motion for approval of the petition," Ladner said.

The motion was passed 4-1, with Webre voting no.

Webre said since Maumus owned approximatley 90 percent of the property in question and had strenously objected he could not vote for the

When timber is destroyed by fire, wind, or other claimable casualty, the deductible loss is the basis of the timber destroyed less any insurance or other compensation received.

Two key points are brought out here: 1) You must have a basis or investment in the timber to claim a loss, and 2) All salvageable timber must be salvaged and this income deducted from the basis before the casualty amount can be determined.

Timber taxation is a tricky business but one thing we are sure of is that all transactions are dependent on the basis. If you don't have your timber set up in its own account, there is no time like the pre-

Believe it or not, the Christmas season has begun at the Post Office

You may have already noticed the increase of catalogs, circulars, and specialty advertising in your mailbox.

It seems like this summer the mail just kept pouring in, day after day, when usually there is a noticeable drop in the mail volume during the summer months.

This is a healthy economic sign for our community, and it seems that almost all of our local businesses are showing bigger profits this year than in the past three or four years. We at the Post Office are glad to see this healthy trend and hope that it continues.

While we realize that very few of you are actually beginning to do your Christmas shopping at this time, we would like to remind you that you can purchase some very interesting and pleasurable gifts for persons of any age or gender at your Post Office.

Of course, I'm talking about Stamp Collecting Items, or more specifically, items such as the various stamp collecting kits, books, and commemorative stamps that are available.

To give you a better idea of just what these items are, we are pleased that the Hancock County Library has allowed us to provide a display of some of these in their showcase through October.

October is National Stamp Collecting Month and we will also have some specially attractive commemorative stamps available until the new year.

To assist you in your mailing Christmas items to friends and relatives overseas; we will try to periodically publish a guide showing the dates to mail in order to assure delivery by Christmas in this colformation, please call your local Post Office For those with relatives in the umn. If you should need further in-armed services stationed overseas, and those who wish to mail holiday greetings and packages to others living in foreign countries, now is the time to plan for holiday mailings.

For families with school age children, the best food buys are probably the lunches served at school. However, when lunches are also being carried by adult family members, it may be just as convenient to pack school lunches at the

In households where adults do not pack lunches, school children may want to pack their own. Lunch packing has always been necessary for some adult workers. More people have become lunch packers in recent years for a variety of reasons, of which economy seems to be an important one.

Whether the lunch is purchased or carried, lunchers would be wise to remember the National School Food Service goal—to provide in the noon meal at least one-third of the daily food needs of each individual. For lunch, this could mean two to three ounces of meat or alternate, a cup of milk or a couple of thin slices of cheese, one or two slices of bread or a serving of cereal and a serving of fruit or vegetable: Including vitamin C rich and deep green or yellow vegetables in lunches helps to round out frequently neglected nutrients, although these foods can also be provided in morning or evening meals.

To be personally satisfying, most people think their diets should contain sweets and fats. It's best to regard these foods as a concentrated source of calories to be consumed in small amounts. In packed lunches, potato chips, lots of dressing on sandwiches or salads, soft drinks, and candy bars can quickly add-many calories with few minerals and vitamins.

In lunch packing as in other meal planning, food variety is the key to both putrition and enjoyment. It can also be the key to economy. There's no end to the variety of lunch meats, dips, spreads, snack foods, and even sandwiches available for instant lunch packing. However, extensive use of purchased pre-packaged individual servings can mean that it takes more money to pack a carried lunch than to eat in a restaurant.

Many of the same foods that are good sessonal choices for at-home meals are equally good choices for the carried lunch. Fresh fruits and vegetables can be varied with must supplies to add moderated cost flavor, texture, and food value.

vegetables are normally fresh ones, they don't have to be. For example, leftover corn on the cob or a baked sweetpotato packs easily into a sack lunch and is welcomed by many lunch carriers.

Leftover main dishes and breads can make child's play of lunch packing. Scrappy pieces of meat or poultry, chillend and sliced paper thin across the grain of the meat, make great sandwich fillings. An extra cup of soup, chili or stew, refrigerated or frozen for a second appearance in a carried lunch, makes a hearty main dish for lunch carriers who have access to a microwave oven.

Two or three pieces of bacon, planned over or left over, can go into a sandwich when the lunch is packed. Tomato slices and lettuce can be packed separately to add to the sandwich at serving time.

Whether home baked or purchased, varied kinds of sandwich breads add to lunch-time enjoyment. Use plain white some of the time, but don't forget to include breads with whole wheat, rye, barley, or brown rice. Use fruit and nut breads for main dish or dessert sandwiches.

Freezing lunch box sandwiches saves early-morning time. It also saves total preparation time, since much of the work of making two or two dozen sandwiches consists of assembling, cleaning, and storing preparation equipment.

All breads keep good quality in the home freezer, but some usual sandwich ingredients should be omitted from frozen sandwiches. Raw vegetables, whites of hard cooked eggs, and mayonnaise do not keep good quality when frozjen. Vegetables lose their crispness, cooked egg whites become tough, mayonnaise and jellies have a tendency to soak into bread and make it soggy.

Autumn's persimmons, pomegranates are decorative and delicious treat

By Ann O Rushing Extension Marketing Specialist

The beautiful fruits of autumn are great for seasonal, decorative arrangements in the fruit bowl but they also offer an interesting experiment in eating.

The lovely, large Oriental persimmons are available in retail fruit displays during the autumn season from October to January. This larger fruit appears to be native to China and has been cultivated in Japan for at least 1,000 years. It is considered Japan's national fruit and is called "apple of the Orient."

From Japan and China the Oriental persimmon has gone around the world with those in our local markets grown primarily in Califor-Persimmons vary from plumshaped to tomato and heart-shaped. Fruit color ranges from yellow to bright or dark orange-red. Persimmons are a fine source of vitamin A.

The persimmons should be well shaped, plump, smooth, highly colored with unbroken skin and with stem cap attached. Persimmons are very perishable when ripe so they are usually not eating-ripe in the market. Persimmons are picked when mature but must be shipped while firm or hard in order to ripen at the market or home.

Plan ahead and enjoy the wait between buying and eating. They ripen best at room temperature so let them color up the fruit bowl for a few days, or a week, until they are softripe. Or place in a bag to ripen—an apple in the bag will aid ripening.

For slicing in salads and fruit cup persimmon softness should be comparable to the softness of a ripe tomato. But for scooping out the "meat" with a spoon, very soft or almost jelly-like is just right. Softripe fruit needs to be refrigerated.

The simplest, and perhaps best, way to enjoy a persimmon is just washed and unpeeled. Or set it stem down on a plate, cut off the top and relish the smooth goodness with a spoon. For variety, slice the fruit and serve with cream and a bit of sugar or with crisp cereal. For breakfast, salads or desserts, they add an exotic touch.

So long as he must fight his way, the man of genius pushes forward. conquering and to conquer.

For cooking, enjoy the delightful change of persimmons in puddings. cakes and cookies. Many cooks use the pulp somewhat like apple sauce in baked goods. A blender is ideal for making pulp. If a blender is not available, use a colander.

One of the oldest fruits known is the pomegrante. It is native to Persia, and was referred to by early Greek writers several hundred years B.C. Pomegrante means "apple with many seeds."

Pomegrante use in this country is not very big compared with many other fresh fruits. The autumn market season for pomegrantes peaks in October decreasing to a small few by Christmas. The flavor may improve with home storage. Its fine keeping qualities make it an ideal fruit for decorative uses.

Select pomegrantes with no sign of decay and heavy for its size; the tough, thin skin should have unbroken rind with no signs of decay.

Opening a pomegrante may bring exciting surprise to first timers. The purplish-red skin is broken open revealing the mass of brightly covered seeds. The bright-sparkling flesh that encompasses the seed holds the delicious unique flavor.

Use a nutpick to dislodge the kernels. Suck the flesh from the pits. They give a brilliant red jewel effect to fruit salads and cheese trays. It all the kernels are not needed wrap the remainder of the fruit in plastic and store in the refrigerator.

For some products, use only the pomegrante juice. Slice the fruit in half and press over a glass or plastic juicer (metal discolors the juice). Avoid twisting the fruit on the juicer-tannin from the skin may give a bitter flavor. Strain the juice through a non-metal strainer and two thicknesses of cheesecloth.

Hancock Medical Center site nearly dry, architect says

BY DENA BISNETTE

The sun will be allowed to take care of most of a problem with wet soil at the Hancock Medical Center

Robert Gower, an architect with Gresham, Smith and Partners. the firm that designed the building, told the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday that some small ditches may be used to drain wetter portions of the property.

"It's drying out well now and we hope in a few more days we will be able to return to work," he said.

further. He said his firm is in the process of verifying the contractor's claim of $3,000 per day overhead.

The contractor is Buck's Incorporated and Claude Hogan of Waveland.

Gower said two alternatives discussed, the excavation of ditches to be filled with granular material to draw moisture and the redesigning of the foundation of the building to alter its elevation, involve less predictable cost than delays.

He said the only major change order involved in the dampness problem as of Monday was a $6,870 change order on an access road to the property that is contingent on the board's approval.

He said an adjustment to site access has had to be made to allow equipment to be brought on to the site so that work could begin.

The original point of access was too wet at the time to get the equipment in, Gower explained.

The board authorized County Engineer Larry Seal to inspect the modification in the road before the supervisors decide whether or not the change order will be approved.

Commission reverses decision, grants stevedoring license

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Following a recommendation by its attorney Robert Genin, the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Monday granted a stevedoring permit to Professional Steel Fabricators, Inc.

"After discussing the matter with a representative of the attorney general's office, I was advised the license should be granted," Genin

Professional Steel Fabricators currently owns property in the Port Bienville Industrial Park and in addition to other activities has been bringing in coal there for roughly two years, Commission Director James DeBlanc said.

An Aug. 26 resolution passed by the commission refusing the license stated "such services are not required for the protection of the harbor and the advancement of public shipping."

Genin told the commissioners that the company had been in operation before tariff policies were adopted. "This is not just a case of refusing a license which you can later issue if ordered by the courts," he said. "There are personal liabilities involved and I don't think you want to flirt with them," he added. Commissioner Dave McDonald made the motion to grant the license but said he strongly feels this is not the right action. "I am making the motion simply because we don't have the statuatory right to refuse," he add-

In addition to the newly-granted license to Professional Steel Fabricators, Hancock Terminal Co. Inc. also has a stevedoring license at its Port Bienville facilities.

Hancock Terminal currently pays the Port and Harbor Commission 50 percent of all wharfage fees and 100 percent of all docking fee collected and $2,000 per month rent.

Also at the meeting the commissioners voted to spend up to $2,500 preparing a site for a skiling which would be used in part by the Mississippi Railway and Transportation Musuem.

The musuem people will later furnish supplies and labor to build the siding, DeBlanc said

UNICEF collection to be made in area

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay-Waveland Youth for UNICEF. will be "Trick-or-Treating" for the United Nations Children's Fund on Halloween night.

The local collection for UNICEF was an annual event in the Bay-Waveland area, and is being reactiviated.

Youth interested in participating are asked to meet at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Youth Organization's building behind the church between 6-6:30 p.m. on Halloween night for an assigned area to collect.

The CYO is this year's host group, and Cathy Chapman, CYO director, said refreshments will be available for those participating in the drive.

Collection boxes, identification, a mapped area, literature on UNICEF, and groups will be assigned an area to collect.

Some 50-75 boys and girls from fifth through 12 grades are usually involved in the UNICEF collection in the Bay-Waveland area.

President Ronald Reagan has proclaimed October 31st as National

UNICEF Day. The United Nation Children's Fund collections are used for clean water, good food, health, education, and social services for millions of the world's poorest children. Since 1950, when a Pennsylvania Sunday School class collected $17 on Halloween, Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF has become an American tradition.

As some 10 million Americans remember UNICEF on Halloween. clubs, churches, and schools, in the last 35 years have raised more than $80 million for needy children in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

National celebrities serve as National UNICEF Day chairpersons," and in 1985 it is Cicely Tyson. Co-chairmen for the Bay-Waveland area will be named for the local UNICEF collection. The local UNICEF drive is open to all youth of the area.

salaries, particularly those of the Slidell district would be impossible because of the differences in the tax

So far this year, the board has only approved raises for non-certified employees this year.

Administrators salary increases were due to the $2400 raise granted by the state.

McCullouch said administrators salaries were ranked high among other districts because the average tenure of the eight administrators was 23 years.

"As long as the ad valorum increase is limited to 10 percent, there is nothing we can do about raises," McCullouch said.

"To fund a salary increase for teachers we would have to have a raise in taxes," he said.

"I think consideration should be given to trying to get the 10 percent cap lifted," McCullouch said.

Trying to hold onto the momentum which has contributed to an overall season record of four wins and one loss, the Hancock North Central Hawks will take on the Long Beach Bearcats Friday at Homecoming.

Hawks Head Coach Irvin Favre said he hopes this week's activities do not distract the players too much.

"We are into the toughest part of our schedule, starting with playing a 5A school which will probably have 15 to 20 more players dressed out than we do," he said.

Long Beach has a 2-4 record and is coming off a 28-6 defeat by the Bay St. Louis Tigers.

Favre said basically the Hawk defense will be putting pressure on two people.

"One is the 6'1", 202-pound tailback Robert Taylor," Favre said. "Before the game against the Bay he was averaging more than 100 yards rushing per game." Taylor is a strong runner and the Hawk players will have to gang up to tackle him, Favre said. According to Favre, the Hawks will also be looking to press Randy Clunan, quarterback for the Bear-

"He handles the ball real well so our defense is gong to have to put a lot of pressure on him," he added.

The Hawk offense will be meeting a good defensive team which has done an outstanding job in their past games, Favre said. "We will have to contine to execute as in the past and also do a good job of blocking by the offensive line," he said. "We are not planning any surprises but just will play a Hancock football game, moving the ball, playing good defense and getting win No. 5," Favre added.

Homecoming activities are scheduled for halftime.

Members of the Homecoming court are Deanna Tynes, Paula Cuevas. Danette Smith and Connie Henry, seniors; Kristy Reynolds and Jackie Bush, juniors; Tanis Breland and Angela Newkirk, sophomores; and Marisha Necaise, and Riva Brown, freshmen.

Pregame activity includes induction of selected members of the 1985 senior class into the Hall of Fame.

Still undefeated

Bay using open week to prep for St. Martin

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis High School Tigers are working on two weeks of preparations for their homecoming game against St. Martin.

Ranked 14th in the state by the Associated Press sportswriters poll, the 6-0 Tigers are shooting for a 9-0 season this year, according to Bay Head Coach Clevand Williams.

The Tigers have already claimed District VIII and Deep South Conference titles and will play in at least one post-season district game.

Right now, however, Williams said he is more concerned with preparing for the Oct. 25 clash with St. Martin.

"We take one ballgame at a time," the coach said.

He said the break this week will give some of the injured players a chance to recover. Those who missed last Friday's game against Long Beach included tackle Jerry Island with a bruised liver and running back Willie Lewis with a sprained

Quarterback Jeffery Smith, whose knee was injured in the game against Pass Christian, is out for the

The Tigers had to regroup after the injury to Smith and Quentin Bell was moved up to starting quarter-

"It seems like Quentin has become one of our most important starters and he is doing a good job after taking over the responsibility of the quarterback's position, but we always talk about the backs,"

Williams said. 'The line deserves much of the credit for getting us this far. Last week against Long Beach, for example, the offensive line opened holes all over the field. They had their best game of the season." "Right now, we have just begun to start jelling as a team. I noticed it Monday in our junior varsity game. We still have some areas we are going to work on this week and next to get ready for homecoming, like our passing attack," he explained. Although the Tigers have tried to develop a balanced attack, running has emerged as their most important offense this season, particularly since Smith was injured. Bay High has gained about 300 yards passing in this season's six gam es. In contrast, rushing has accounted for more than 1,250 yards.

The Tigers' Nasty Bunch Defense has held its opponents to yardage deficits twice. The first was in the Pass: Christian game, when the Pirate offense was knocked back to a loss of two yards. The second was Vanicleave with a total deficit of 19

The Tiger offense has collected 152 points this season, mostly through the efforts of leading rushers Willie Levis, Matt Fairconnetue, Aaron Whavers, Louis Burton, Quentin Bell and Brian Laneaux.

17he Nasty Bunch has given up only 25 points in the six games so far. Stone County had the most with 13, followed by Pearl River Central and

"The offensive line deserves much of the credit ...they have opened holes for us all over the field." -Williams

Long Beach with six points each. Three games, including Pass Christian, Vancleave and East Central, were shutouts.

Defenders leading in tackles include Trace McRaney with 87, Stace McRaney with 63, Greg Necaise with 59 and Jerry Island with 34.

Williams gives much of the credit for the Tigers' success this year to his assistant coaches, Gary Griffin and G.L. McRaney.

"We've always worked real closely together and that's the key to our success right now," he said.

Williams said the last part of the season will be tougher for the Tigers because the remaining schools on Bay High's schedule are 4-A schools.

They include St. Martin and two ocal rivals, Hancock North Central and St. Stanislaus.

The Tigers played their first larger school, 5-A Long Beach, last winning week. All their conference opponents, which were Stone County, Pass Christian, Vancleave, Pearl River Central and East Central, were 3-A

"We're looking at using a variation of five-up-front with three line backers." said Pirate Head Coach Alton Wright.

"We're adjusting to what we see they have done so far," the coach noted after viewing films of the Devils' earlier games.

" They are tough—they remind me of Hancock, they ran over Stanislaus last week like they weren't even there." Wright continued.

Wright said he hopes to provide some element of surprise in the Pirate offense.

"We swapped game films," Wright added, "but what they have is our single wing offense. They haven't seen us run out of the I which we used last week to beat East Cen-

The Pirate coach pointed out his team's first victory of the season over East Central last week has 'helped morale a lot.'

"We're also in good shape physically this week-Rod Jenkins appears to be ready for action after suffering a shoulder injury."

"Shinall Conway will remain sidlined for one more week with that injury he took in the game against Stone County two weeks ago," the coach added.

"Otherwise we're in good shape," Wright said. Friday's encounter with the Blue

Junior High Hawks lose to undefeated St. Martin

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Dropping their second game of the season, the Hancock North Central Junior High Hawks lost by one point to the visiting St. Martin Yellow Jackets Oct. 10.

"I thought we beat them one of the top select soccer teams in Mississippi and was defeated 3 to 0. The Under-16 team will be travelling to Jackson to play in a Mississippi Under-16 Recreation Tourna-

Paul Montjoy, president of the Bay Youth Soccer, reports a need for people to train as referees. Interested persons may contact him at the final score just did not indicate how we played, said Coach Joe Scoring two touchdowns, the Hawks were the first team this season to score against the undefeated Yellow Jackets.

In the first quarter, St. Martin scored on a 60-yard run by tailback James Polk. The extra point was -blocked.

St. Martin added another touchdown in the second quarter with a 60-yard pass to split end James Mosley. Steve Shepard kicked the extra point.

Coming back the Hawks put their first points on the board when Jeff Moran connected with Terrance Golf for an 18-yard scoring pass.

The extra point was missed, bringing the scor to 13-6 at the half. After a scoreless third quarter, the junior high Hawks scored again with only four minutes left in the game.

Moran made the touchdown on a 1-yard quarterback sneak set up by a 40-yard reception by Golf. The two-point conversion attempt was missed and the final score was Coach Shaw reported that the two losses of the junior high Hawks were both teams were undefeated.

Last week's game give the junior Hawks a season record of three wins and two losses.

Tonight, Oct. 17 the Hawks will play the Long Beach Junior High team at 7 p.m.

DOCTOR WHO

Mississippi ETV goes back in time so to speak at the conclusion of the "Doctor Who" movies starring Tom Baker and begins airing a set of movies starring Baker's predecessor, Jon Pertwee. The Pertwee movies can be seen at "Doctor Who's" regularly scheduled time on Mississippi ETV-5 p.m., Saturdays-beginning Oct. 19. The movies will run for 24 weeks.

Pertwee was the third actor to portray the Doctor in the BBC's longrunning science fiction series; Baker was the fourth.

Pertwee brought a dashing sophistication to the role, garnering comparisons for himself with James Bond. With silver-haired elegance and velvet jackets and ruffled shirts, he was a far cry from the hobo, Harpo Marx-esque character that Tom Baker developed for seven seasons.

Pertwee's adventures begin with "Spearhead from Space," in which the Doctor must battle an alien life form whose mission is to replace key government officials and take over the world.

These Pertwee stories place the Doctor in exile on Earth as a scientist-consultant for an intelligence outfit called UNIT.

The Brigadier (Nicholas Courtney) is a regular character as is the Doctor's companion, Liz Shaw (Caroline John).

CUMULATIVE FINAL NOTICE Notification is hereby given to the iblic of the intent of the Federal public of the intent of the recersing the recersion of the intent of the recersion of the recersion of the recersion of the receive within the counties of thancock, Harrison, Jackson, and Pearl River, to restore facilities located in the base floodplain which were damag-ed in the recent major disaster declared as a result of Hurricane Elena. Public comment about restoration of these facilities and application of the Floodplain Manage-ment Executive Order to them was invited by notice in this publication on 09/19/85.

These facilities include, but are not limited to the following:

1. Non-emergency debris

2. Non-emergency repair to protective flood control and protective coastal facilities, including dams, reservoirs and channels.
3. Damage to roads, including streets, culverts and bridges. 4. Damage to water control facilities, pipes and distribution

5. Damage to public buildings and related equipment.
6. Damage to public utilities, including sewage treatment plants and sewers, and electrical power distribution systems. 7. Damage to private, non-profit facilities (hospitals, educational centers, emergency and custodial care services, etc).

Comments and information received were fully evaluated by FEMA along with evaluation of social, economic, environmental and safety considerations. FEMA also consulted with State and local officials to insure compliance with applicable floodplain protection standards. FEMA has determined that the only practicable alternative is to restore certain facilities at their original location within the base floodplain because one of the following situations applies in each case:

1. The facility is functionally dependent on its floodplain location. Flood control facilities, bridges, and piers are examples.

piers are examples.

2. The project facilities an open space use. Facilities which are part of a park or other open space use are examples. This type of use represents sound floodplain management and therefore there is no next to observe it.

no need to change it.

3. The facilities, such as roads and utilities, are an integral part of a larger network which would be utilities, are an integral part of a larger network which would be uneconomical to relocate.

Additionally, the possible effects of not restoring the facility were examined. In each case, there was an overriding public need for the facility which clearly outweighed the Order's requirements to avoid the floodplain when there is a practicable alternative, and which made non-floodplain sites not practicable.

The restoration of these facilities will also incorporate certain measures designed to mitigate the effects of future flooding. For example, culverts and bridges with insufficient waterway openings may be subject to washing out due to the backed-up water. This back-up may also cause damage to other facilities in the area. One mitigation measure would be to increase the size of the waterway opening; another would be to add the down lines to stadium bleschers to keep them from blow-ing over with blefy strike.

be to add tie-down lines to stadium bleachers to keep them from blowing over with high winds.

Interested persons may obtain information about these actions and their locations at the Office of the Federal Coordinator at 2729, Blenville Evid., Ocean Springs, er by calling $72-2822 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Mooday through Friday. # Bay-Waveland Girl Scouts report activities

Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council's annual three-day Leaders' Weekend, consisting of canoeing, candlewicking, stenciling, ceramics, tin punching, ornament making, aerobic exercise and outdoor cooking was staged Sept. 26-28.

"Our leaders get together to share ideas and make friends." said Senior Girl Scout Melinda Miller of Troop 27 of the Bay-Waveland Neighborhood.

"We were well organized and the staff ready to help new leaders," Miller continued.

The Bay-Waveland adults and seniors attending included Alice Holmes, Gale Egan, Leslie Duhe, Karen Ladner, Dee Ferrell, Crystal Burrows, Ethel Schott, Alison Miller, Melinda Miller, Barbara Bankston and Gloria Holland.

Bay-Waveland Neighborhood, for the second straight year won a plaque for having the most people attend.

Ferrell also attended a Leader-In-Training Program during the weekend and is now an assistant leader of Brownie Troop 66.

TROOP SPONSORS The Bay-Waveland Garden Club has sponsored Girl Scout Troop 27 for five years. The troop meets at the Garden Center and participates in garden club as well as Girl Scout activities. The group has been an Honor Roll Intermediate Garden Club for four years. In 1984, the members won the State Garden Club Environmental Education Award and in 1985 the State Conservation Award. The garden club provides instructors in gardening and gives plants.

seeds and cuttings to the girls. The club also donates money for troop activities, and has sponsored girls to the Garden Club Junior

Nature Camp in Durant and the Horticulture Summer Seminar at Mississippi State University each

In return the troop has maintained a bird feeder at the center, planted annuals in the center's flower garden, helped prepare the center for meetings and flower shows and done yard work at the center in preparation for the annual Garden Club Pilgrimage in the spring.

The girls have also served as pages at the annual Camellia Show in Gulfport in the fall.

ST. CLARE TROOPS

The opening of a new school year brings with it the renewal of Girl Scout activitiv.

St. Clare's Junior Troop No. 98 met for the first time last week with leader Crystal Burróws.

The troop meets weekly at The Curtis Johnson Girl Scout Hut in Shoreline Park.

The girls studied rules of the road for bicycle safety and furthered plans for an advanced camping trip in late November at Camp Iti Kana near Wiggins.

And getting underway at St. Clare this year is the newest troop in the Bay-Waveland Neighborhood, the Daisy Troop, composed of girls ages four and five.

Along with the new girls, Barbara Fillingame is a new leader.

"Everyone seems very enthused. and this promises to be a great year for everyone involved," Filingame

TROOP 27

Girl Scout Troop 27 is planning to go to Camp Ita Kana on Oct. 25-27 for SCAT weekend. SCAT stands for Senior Cadette Action Team.

Agenda for the weekend includes canoeing, swimming, gimick cooking, and ceramics.

HALLOWEEN MASKS

You can spend a lot of money this Halloween dressing up like the latest Hollywood fright figure, but if everyone else comes as the same silver-screen spook, well . . . it's just not scary, and not nearly as much fun. To really look your best (er . . . that is, your worst), why not make your own mask? You can create a really impressive disguise to cover your whole head, and it's not as hard as it sounds—if you make it out of papier-maché (fancy French for

Start your project by collecting the materials: some medium-sized pear-shaped balloons, powdered wallpaper paste, white glue, masking tape, paint, and lots of newspapers. Tear the newspapers into long strips about half an inch wide. Next, blow up a balloon until it's a little bit larger than your own head. Work up a batch of wallpaper paste by mixing two parts powder to ten parts water. Then pull the strips, one at a time, through the paste and smooth them onto the inflated balloon. Keep adding layers until the papier-maché is about five strips thick—but be sure to leave an opening in the bottom around the tied end of the balloon. Hang the strip-covered balloon bottom-side up until the covering has dried and gotten very hard. When the paper's all dry, pop the balloon and pull it through the hole. Then enlarge the hole until you can slip on the unfinished mask. Once it's on your head, have a friend mark, using a felt-tipped pen, the places where your eyes, nose, and mouth line up with the mask. Take the mask off, carefully cut appropriate openings at those marks, and put masking tape around the holes to keep their edges from scratching your face.

Now it's time to start building up the facial details. To make eyebrows or lips, twist a stick of newspaper and hold it in place with masking tape. Egg carton cups or paper cones can be taped on to make a nose, horn, chin, or even goggle eyes. If you'd like your creature to look real brainy, wad up two big balls of newspaper and tape them on top. Big ears are fun to add, too, but you'll have to use stiff cardboard to make those. Once all your additions are in place, cover the whole head with one or two more layers of glued paper strips, and let it dry for another day. While the mask is drying, you can prepare the soft mash that will serve as the final coat. Tear up at least four large newspaper sheets into small pieces, cover them with water, and allow them to soak overnight. The next day, boil the mixture until it forms a pulp. Let it cool for a while, then cover a sieve with an old cotton rag and strain the pulp through it, squeezing all the extra water out of the rag. Put the soft, wet lump in a big bowl, mix in two tablespoons of wallpaper paste powder and two tablespoons of liquid white glue and stir the concoction until you've gotten rid of all the lumps. Apply the mash all over the mask. (Don't put much on the ears, though, or they'll collapse.) Smoothe the wet guck out with your hands. Once the mask is perfectly dry. (which will take at least two more days), you can paint it. Enamel spray paints are particularly effective, but you can use any water-based paint and cover the finished dry surface with a clear vinyl sealer. (Younger folks should seek out the help of an adult before attempting this.)

Episcopal schools' 'Toast' fund-raiser to feature Coast Restaurant specialities

Coast Episcopal Schools PTO with the endorsement of the Greater Gulf Coast Arts Council will host its second "Toast to the Coast" on Friday evening, Oct. 25.

The event will begin at 7 p.m. on the lawn of the Pass Christian beachfront home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Westervelt Jr.

"This gala event provides an opportunity to experience in one night the unique quality of life on the Gulf Coast," states Patty Hourin, PTO president. Fund raising to help fill the gap between tuition and expenses and to add needed equipment is a vital part of PTO activities.

Coast Episcopal Schools draw students from Ocean Springs to Slidell, La. The success of "the "Toast to the Coast" has been due to the generosity and support from so many individuals in the Gulf Coast communities, Hourin explained.

This event will feature dishes donated and served by the Gulf Coast's finest restaurants, according to Margaret Morse, food chair-

Some new restaurants will be joining those returning from last year: -Trilby's from Ocean Springs;

-The Broadwater, The Fountain, Hook Line & Sinker, Mary Mahoney's, Pier Seafood Restaurant, Rosetti's, Sandra's Fresh and Frozen Assets, and White Pillars from Biloxi;

-An-Jac's Bar-B Que & Chicken Shac, Celia Martin Catering, Golden Wok, Patafanny's, and Popeye's from Gulfport;

-Chappy's Seafood Restaurant, Classy Caterer, and Cock of the Walk from Long Beach;

-Annie's, The Blue Rose, Pirate's Cove, and Scenic Street Cafe from Pass Christian;

-South Mississippi Catering and Vrazel's from Diamondhead; The Landmark Townsquare from Bay St. Louis: And Hamptons and Waveland Seafood Center and Deli from Waveland. Sandra Shellnut has been contacting local artists to display their work. Among the group that has accepted are Janet Belden, a Pass. Christian potter who is a member of the Mississippi Craftsman's Guild and exhibits at shows throughout the north and southeast parts of the United States. She has won 'Best of Show' many times and was recently featured at the Southeastern Center for Contemporary Arts in Winston Salem, N.C. Trailer McQuilkin from Ocean Springs will be snowing his flower sculpture done in copper. He will be exhibiting in November at the Atlanta Botanical Gardens.

He was commissioned in 1975 to do permanent collection of 25 sculptures for Longue Vue Gardens in New Orleans.

Estelle Lacoste from Gulfport will be exhibiting her wood assemblages. She recently won Best of Show in mixed Media at the Greater Gulf Coast Arts Festival in Pensacola, Charles Ambrose, former chairman of the art departments of Southern university and Mississippi University for Women and presently with William Carey College, works in water colors, oils and sculpture.

"Kerr" Grabowski from Long Beach will show her designs on fabric as well as drawings. She recently showed in Threads 85 for the Society of Arts and Crafts in

A few more local artists exhibiting will be Ann Lynch, Hayne Rudolph, Emmett Thames, Patti Bannister, Steve Baron, Elizabeth Beasnett (who designed the invitations), Mabelle Bowers, Amanda Breckenridge, Patt Odom, Hudson Chadwick Jr., Gayle Clark, Sylvia Corban, Arvery Crounse, Palfrey Dameron, Dyed in the Wool Weavers, Kat Fitzpatrick, Bob Florie, J.J. # ETV developing kindergarten

Mississippi Educational Television is developing a kindergarten project stressing the importance of early childhood learning experiences. The project was begun in response. to the 1982 Education Reform Act which mandates a state-wide kindergarten program in all public school districts beginning in the 1986-87 school year.

This three-part project is aimed at three affiliated audiences: parents, teachers and kindergarten pupils.

According to Constance Queen, the project coordinator, the series' overriding mission is to "help preschool children reach their fullest academic potential. It is during the early years that children build concepts and acquire skills that become the base from which later formal learning rises."

Part one of the project is a onehour prime-time special with an instructional message that will appeal to a broad spectrum of parents of young children. The program will give parents a clearer understanding of early learning, its development and the part that preschool experiences and parents play in that learning. "A parent is a child's first teacher," explains Queen. "You do not need certain qualifications to provide rich experiences that are crucial to a child's early learning. Making learning fun in everyday home and neighborhood activities creates a healthy attitude toward learning that is important throughout the child's life. Simple, common experiences at home and play can extend and enrich classroom learning activities."

Part two of the project consists of four 30-minute programs geared toward staff development of teachers. These inservice programs are designed to build more effective partnerships between parents and teachers. Teachers will be given orientation materials and instructicularly valuable for teachers who do not have previous experience teaching the kindergarten-age child.

Queen supports the inservice programs because "parents are more likely to be involved in a child's education when he or she first goes off to school. It is very important for a parent to be interested in the child's education. It really makes a difference." Part three, tentatively scheduled as a series of fifteen 15-minute instructional programs for kindergarten and primary students, will teach basic early learning concepts for future academic demands.

These learning skills consist of language development, number skills, classification skills, temporal relationships, spatial relationships and problem solving. The series also will provide important listening activities that are structured to promote a desire to listen carefully as well as develop listening comprehension skills.

This component of the project is tentatively scheduled to begin in September 1987.

presents Theatre

The cast and crew are busy putting the polish on the Diamondhead Little Theater's forthcoming production of "Romantic Comedy, three-act play by Bernard Slade, who also wrote "Same Time Next Year."

"Romantic Comedy" is directed by Nan Ehrbright, whom many people know from her work with the Bay St. Louis Little Theater.

Clem Acker and Claudia K. Dake will play the leading roles of Jason Carmichael and Phoebe Craddock, a successful playwright and a Vermont school teacher who team up for 10 years of professional collaboration before their unrequited love sparks into an explosive argument that leads to a parting of the ways.

Rounding out the cast will be Anne Patricia McKendrick, as Jason's wife Allison; Clarice Gustin as Blanche Dailey, Jason's agent; Mark Thomas, as Leo Janowitz, a journalist who is in love with Phoebe; and Dorothy Rickson as Kate Mallory, an actress in one of Jason and Phoebe's plays.

Nov. 6, 7 and 8 are the production dates. Mark your calendar to be there. Tickets are $17.50 per person and include dinner, tax, gratuity and the play. Cocktails from 5:30, dinner at 6:30, and the curtain is at 8 p.m.

There will be no service during the play but the bar will be open during intermissions.

Advance tickets are a must as seating is limited and no tickets will be available at the door. Tickets may be purchased by calling 255-1814 or 255-2697, or by mail through Diamondhead Little Theater c/o 5300 Diamondhead Circle, Bay St. Louis MS 39520.

There are also a limited number of tickets available for advance purchase at the Country Club executive

The first magazine for children was published in 1751. Directed soley toward children it was appropriately small in size—measuring only four inches by two and four-bedroom vacation home in a resort near Gatlinburg; two nights at the Royal Orleans in New Orleans with dinner for two both nights at the Rib Room; two nights in a French Quarter Condominium with four Sugar Bowl tickets; a day's fishing trip for four to the Barrier Islands on a 41' Hatteras; a dinner cruise for six-on the Blue Rose Restaruant Sailboat; and a weekend at the St. Louis Hotel in New Orleans with dinner for two at the Louis XVI Restaurant and two Saints football tickets.

Some extraordinary items up for auction are a Model 200 Barnacle Buster, a handcarved mantle, a 16-foot Hobie Cat with trailer and an 11x14-inch portrait taken by photographer Paul Skipworth.

Bidding will be made on a helicopter trip along the Coast and the Barrier Islands with lunch at the Broadwater; jazz brunch for two at Arnaud's in New Orleans; and a man's ten-speed bicycle.

Handmade items include an original Kerr batik dress, a Mignon Faget bracelet, a quilt in the double wedding ring pattern, and several handknit sweaters.

Available for bidding will be weaving lessons with Helen Curris, riding lessons at Wildwood Farms and tennis lessons with Diana Preisser, a

Archie Cooley, the legendary head football coach, is profiled and is shown in a practice session and on

Valley State vs. Southern University game. Interviews include Chuck Mississippi Valley State University Prophet, sports information director and athletic director; Dr. Joe Boyer, president of MVSU; and Willie 'Safellite' Totten, MVSU quarter-

ETV developing kindergarten

Mississippi Educational Television is developing a kindergarten project stressing the importance of early childhood learning experiences.

The project was begun in response to the 1962 Education Reform Act which mandates a state-wide kindergarten program in all public school districts beginning in the 1986-87 school year.

This three-part project is aimed at three affiliated audiences: parents, teachers and kindergarten pupils.

According to Constance Queen, the project coordinator, the series' overriding mission is to "help preschool children reach their fullest academic potential. It is during the early years that children build concepts and acquire skills that become the base from which later formal learning rises."

Part one of the project is a onehour prime-time special with an instructional message that will appeal to a broad spectrum of parents of young children. The program will give parents a clearer understanding of early learning, its development and the part that preschool experiences and parents play in that learning. "A parent is a child's first teacher," explains Queen. "You do not need certain qualifications to provide rich experiences that are crucial to a child's early learning. Making learning fun in everyday home and neighborhood activities creates a healthy attitude toward learning that is important throughout the child's life. Simple, common experiences at home and play can extend and enrich classroom learning activities."

Part two of the project consists of four 30-minute programs geared toward staff development of teachers. These inservice programs are designed to build more effective partnerships between parents and teachers. Teachers will be given orientation materials and instructicularly valuable for teachers who do not have previous experience teaching the kindergarten-age child.

Queen supports the inservice programs because "parents are more likely to be involved in a child's education when he or she first goes off to school. It is very important for a parent to be interested in the child's education. It really makes a difference."

Part three, tentatively scheduled as a series of fifteen 15-minute instructional programs for kindergarten and primary students, will teach basic early learning concepts for future academic demands.

These learning skills consist of language development, number skills, classification skills, temporal relationships, spatial relationships and problem solving. The series also will provide important listening activities that are structured to promote a desire to listen carefully as well as develop listening comprehension skills.

This component of the project is tentatively scheduled to begin in September 1987.

Diamondhead Little presents Theatre

The cast and crew are busy putting the polish on the Diamondhead Little Theater's forthcoming production of "Romantic Comedy," a three-act play by Bernard Slade, who also wrote "Same Time Next Year." "Romantic Comedy" is directed by Nan Ehrbright, whom many people know from her work with the Bay St. Louis Little Theater.

Clem Acker and Claudia K, Lake will play the leading roles of Jason Carmichael and Phoebe Craddock, a successful playwright and a Vermont school teacher who team up for 10 years of professional collaboration before their unrequited love sparks into an explosive argument that leads to a parting of the ways.

Rounding out the cast will be Anne Patricia McKendrick, as Jason's wife Allison; Clarice Gustin as Blanche Dailey, Jason's agent; Mark Thomas, as Leo Janowitz, a journalist who is in love with Phoebe; and Dorothy Rickson as Kate Mallory, an actress in one of Jason and Phoebe's plays.

Nov. 6, 7 and 8 are the production dates. Mark your calendar to be there. Tickets are $17.50 per person and include dinner, tax, gratuity and the play. Cocktails from 5:30, dinner at 6:30, and the curtain is at 8 p.m.

There will be no service during the play but the bar will be open during intermissions.

Advance tickets are a must as seating is limited and no tickets will be available at the door. Tickets may be purchased by calling 255-1814 or 255-2697, or by mail through Diamondhead Little Theater c/o 5300 Diamondhead Circle, Bay St. Louis MS 39520.

There are also a limited number of tickets available for advance purchase at the Country Club executive offices.
